SELF-GOVERNMENT FOR THE SELF-GOVERNED: THE ROLE OF VIRTUE IN A DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC

David F. Forte

Professor of Law, Cleveland State University

Thursday, June 19, 2014

12:00 P.M. - 1:00 P.M.

227 Massachusetts Avenue, NE | Washington, D.C. 20002

~ LUNCH WILL BE PROVIDED ~

SPONSORED BY THE AWC FAMILY FOUNDATION

The AWC Family Foundation Lecture Series addresses political, historical, and economic topics from a constitutional perspective.

At the Founding, the American notion of freedom was both political and moral. Drawing upon the English legal tradition of corporate liberty, the Protestant tradition of personal self-discipline, and the classical tradition of duty, the American Founders argued that a republic can survive only if its leaders practice public virtue and civic responsibility, and that the greatest support of public virtue was private virtue among the people.
